You Are Never Alone

As Catholics, one of the core tenets of our faith is the belief in God as Father, Son, and the Holy Spirit. Our Gospel reading today shows us that this faith in the Trinity is very scriptural. Even though it is sometimes difficult to wrap our minds around this reality of a Triune God, we need not doubt it. Jesus, in John's Gospel as we read today, speaks of an aspect of the relationship between the Father, the Son, and the Holy Spirit and he also shows how we, as believers, fit within the framework of this Trinitarian relationship.

When Jesus says he is in the Father and the Father is in him (cf. John 14:10), we refer to that relationship as a circumincession, "perichoresis" or simply the "divine dance." By this means the mutual indwelling of the persons of the Trinity such that the Father is in the Son whereas the Son is at the same time in the Father. Let me break this down. The essential principle displayed by this Trinitarian principle of "perichoresis" is that while we believe in the Father, Son, and Holy Spirit as distinct, they are never separated, at odds, or acting in isolation. In the same way, Jesus assured his followers that he would not leave us as orphans. What he means is that even though we are distinct in our existence, we are never separated from him, and he is never far from us. In our world today, one of the greatest struggles is loneliness and the sense of isolation. Despite constant digital connection, many feel abandoned or unseen. Jesus' promise, "I will not leave you orphans" speaks directly into this reality. He assures us that we are never truly alone. Through prayer, the sacraments, and acts of love, we can experience Christ's real presence dwelling within us and through us.

When Jesus says, 'I will not leave you orphans,' he is speaking to every heart that feels alone. If you have felt the sting of loneliness, today's Gospel is for you. Make time this week to pray with the words of Jesus and ask the Holy Spirit to help you to feel God's presence in your life. For in truth, he is always with us.

Viviendo Como Ovejas

En este cuarto domingo de Pascua, también conocido como Domingo del Buen Pastor, nuestras lecturas están, como era de esperar, llenas de imágenes de ovejas y pastores, y se pone énfasis en la bondad del pastor, que es el Señor. Las lecturas son claras sobre qué hace bueno al pastor. El Salmo 23 de David, que es nuestro salmo responsorial, desarrolla estas cualidades del buen pastor. Pero las lecturas también señalan la tendencia de las ovejas a desviarse y el deseo de los ladrones de destruir el rebaño.

Por lo tanto, parte de la realidad de reconocer al Señor como nuestro pastor es reconocer que somos (como) ovejas, y como ovejas, comprender algunas verdades. Una de estas verdades es que necesitamos una cabeza o una figura que nos guía constantemente debido a nuestra tendencia a querer seguir nuestro propio camino. Además, debemos darnos cuenta de que hay otras voces que buscan aislarnos del rebaño y "masacrarnos y destruirnos", por lo que debemos permanecer con el rebaño. Una oveja que camina sola, sin pastor ni rebaño, se prepara para ser destruida. Y lo mismo nos pasa a nosotros. Si deseamos caminar solos, vivir nuestras vidas sin guía o incluso de forma autodirigida, aislados, solos y sin comunidad, es un peligro para nosotros mismos. Pero esto es lo que el mundo y nuestra sociedad nos enseñan hoy. El Señor, nuestro pastor, desea caminar con nosotros y guiarnos. También desea que caminemos con él junto a otros del rebaño que también le siguen. Así es como "nos salvaremos de esta generación corrupta", como aconseja Peter en la primera lectura de hoy.

¿Cuál es entonces nuestra decisión hoy? Eso es. No hay pasillos. No desprecies la comunidad y la fraternidad. No resistas la guía y las instrucciones sagradas. Más bien, haz amigos dentro de la comunidad eclesial, con quienes también siguen al mismo pastor. Aprende a discernir la voz de Dios. Diez en cuenta que existen voces que solo buscan destruirte. Y en todo, aprendió a escuchar la voluntad de Dios y no os faltará nada, como dice el Salmo.

PREPARING FOR MASS

We ask that before Mass, you enter in silence to allow people to pray and prepare for Mass without distraction.

The CCW would like to congratulate Nicole Stark the winner of the Golden Rose Award and Eleanor Tortorell the winner of the Anna Marie Morris award. They were presented with their awards last Sunday at the 8:30 Mass which was hosted by the CCW followed by a reception.

The CCW will host their last monthly meeting Tuesday May 12th at 6PM in the Narthex. This will be a potluck dinner so bring your favorite dish. Your Secret Sisters will be identified and we will be voting on the budget. Hope to see you there.

The CCW would also like to wish all the ladies of the parish a very Happy and Blessed Mother's Day.

May 20 will end our 8 a.m. Masses until school comes back in session in August.
